Case Workers Of Red Cross Investigate Claims Of Families For Assistance In Morehead Flood

Rules And Regulations For Investigation Described By Red Cross Heads

Miss Alice Richards, supervisor for Rowan in charge of investigation of family needs for those suffered in the recent flood, will have five experienced case workers under her supervision. Miss Richards said all the case workers are widely experienced in this kind work. They plan on visiting every registered applicant, during the next two weeks. They will investigate thoroughly and justly every case. Her aim, she said, is to see that absolute justice or as nearly absolute justice is to be made possible, is done in every instance. In the past, it has been the experience of local workers, that numbers who are not entitled to aid apply, merely for the sake of period gratuitous assistance. These people do not stop to realize or if they do, they do not care that they are robbing some person who actually needs help. Help is used as much as possible that the Red Cross finds it necessary to provide, every applicant carefully, as well as to relieve suffering.

When Miss Richards or one of the case workers arrives at your home, in case you were in the flood and suffered flood damage, she will expect you to give her not only a complete record of your losses, but also a financial statement, you will be required to give a complete, detailed statement of your resources and holdings, the amount of money in the bank, if any, the income you and the kids will pay.

If you are entitled to assistance, this will not be heard. If you are not entitled to assistance, you will be advised, don't ask for it.

If you are entitled, it make a loan, either from a local bank or from the Disaster Loan Corporation, which will be required to do, as the Red Cross contemplates, only for those who are unable to help themselves.

After the investigation has been made, a decision will be made on the findings of the case investigation.

No Strong Houses Required

Red Cross cannot make rehabilitation of income property. Property owners, unless they are relatives of the people, who depend on their rental property for their income, will be required to repair or rebuild their own homes.

Red Cross Will Give Garden Seeds To Those Who Lost During Flood

Packages Will Be Delivered By Volunteers at Time Investigation Is Made

Red Cross has made arrangements to supply food stuffs which lost their gardens in the great flood, with a supply of garden seed, the various kinds, sufficient to plant a goodly of them on their gardens, half an acre. The seed is of these varieties which will mature a crop between now and harvest time, are to calculated to furnish sample supplies food to do a family until harvest time and will be a supply for canning.

The Red Cross officials state that none of this seed will be given out to handyman, or to people who lose to call them for a supply. The case workers will be instructed to give it out as they visit the various homes on their investigations.

Fence remember this, and do not call at Red Cross headquarters for seed. They already are over burdened with work, and it will take time to distribute these seeds, but have made arrangements for them to be distributed by other means.

Fire Department Due Great Praise For Good Work

Department Saves Numerous Buildings By Heroic Efforts During Flood

In the most terrible flooding the flood, more citizens of Morehead have wondered the excellent work done by the Morehead Fire Department on the morning of the flood, when practically destroyed the City Hotel.

Mr. Chas. L. Gotf, County Agricultural Agent, Morehead, Ky.

Dear Mr. Goff:

This is a reply to yours of the 7, in which you ask for information as to what may be done into the future, that were wanted away by the flood.

Any day during July been could be started with good hope of their maturing before frost. An extraordinary good time for planting now by February, either due to 1. There is a strikingness of this variety, but even the old fashion of use this, for a crop, and the very fine been and would enjoyed growing of wheat.

Low cabbage plants, a month old, would be, and would be the choice of making hard heads before frost. Also, the cabbage, for a fall by hand, however, I doubt whether it would recommend, because of the short season varieties. Lettuce, ordinary cabbage, or perhaps most store Chinese cabbage, the variety in Pa Tsai. I doubt whether Chinese cabbage seed is being sold in Morehead, but Mr. Kenneth Hogge grows here plenty of time to mature, so is such a crop, be sown August 1. Mark off for the rear after the harvest of tobacco, sow broadcast or high-grade fertilizer, to a level, and rake in the seeds and roll. Turnips sown at this time should yield a crop about 15" without any fertilizer. Turnips of cabbage should will cover 200 feet of row, similarly as tobacco.
